Structure

Structure to me is a composition. A whole consisting of different parts. A good structure would be the one in which every element is complementing one another in coherence and organization.

On a personal level perception, I see structure as a composition of multiple layers. I believe that all the layers can be extracted, singled out and taken apart. To explore structure in visual 2-dimensional representation, I chose a famous art work from early 1600s, to try to dissect its elements in reverse action. I see this process as a reverse process. Instead of creating a structure I want to dissect the existing one to understand the assembly of its elements while creating new structures in itself. It is an ongoing process, and each extraction can be further treated the same way to disperse a structure or create new ones.

Initial Concerns

Coming from an architectural background academically into Visual arts, I was presented with an opportunity to explore form and space without the standardized architectural restrictions. Hence through various mediums my concerns always revolved around space as a physical, mental, and emotional entity which I incorporated in my art work along with the exploration of form.

دعا مانگنے کی سب سے پرانیویٹ اور پرسکون جگہ۔ یہاں جو دعا مانگی جانے لگی وہ پوری ہوگی۔ دعا گاہ کے اندر رش نہ ڈالیں۔ ایک وقت میں چار لوگ دعا مانگ سکتے ہیں۔ بہتر نتائج کے لئے ذہن کو ہر خیال سے پاک رکھیں۔ اپنے غسل خانے کو اندر سے لاک کریں اور چھوٹی کھڑکی کی طرف منہ کر کے دعا مانگیں شکر یہ۔
